

LEANNE GAVIN

I was born in Kilmarnock, Scotland but have lived in Watford for nearly two years now. I am currently studying Fine Art at Middlesex University where I have just recently completed my end of year exhibition. I have a few more years of study after which I hope to go on to a career in Art Therapy, as well as being a free lance artist. I enjoy many types of art from still life drawings and prints to expressionist and abstract painting, and often adopt a mixed range of media when producing my work. I gather inspiration from many sources including nature, the human form and many aspects of society such as family life and equality.
